

*Distinguished
Scientist*

C. T. Liu, Metals and Ceramics

For research on advanced materials, both in increasing fundamental understanding of their mechanical properties and in their application to energy systems

Stephen J. Pennycook, Condensed Matter Sciences

For pioneering new approaches and insightful applications to the field of electron microscopy

George D. Wignall, Center for Neutron Scattering

For pioneering instrumentation development and sustained achievement in the structure of polymers through the use of small angle neutron scattering