For more than 75 years, Oak Ridge National Laboratory (ORNL) has shaped our world with discoveries in neutron science, high-performance computing, advanced materials, biology and environmental science, nuclear science and isotopes, and national security.

What Our Staff Say about Working at ORNL

“At ORNL I am part of a team that is the best in what they do, and we work in an environment that encourages openness and diversity while placing a high value on research excellence and integrity. The combination of flagship strengths in quantum materials, neutron scattering, and high-performance computing coupled with the direct positive impact our work has on people's lives and the planet makes work at ORNL equal parts challenging, stimulating, and fulfilling.”

—Clarina dela Cruz, Diffraction Group Leader

“ORNL has given me an opportunity to start my career in a world-class research environment working with experts in their field. I have the opportunity to have a tangible, positive impact on a broad user base ranging from fundamental physics experiments to national security.”

—Matthew Heath, Postdoctoral Researcher

“When I first arrived at ORNL, I was fascinated by the lab’s world-class facilities and breadth of research. As time went on I realized that nuclear processes I’d only read about were a vital part of the laboratory’s fabric, and I began to meet scientists who had written the very journal articles and books I’d studied for many years. Rather than trying to glean information through reading, I simply walk across campus and meet with the world’s foremost experts. The best part of working at ORNL—even as a late career scientist—is that I get to learn something new and fascinating virtually every day.”

—Paula Cable-Dunlap, Collection Science and Engineering Group Leader

Life at Oak Ridge National Laboratory

ORNL was established in 1943 during the Manhattan Project and, for over 75 years, has been a leader in science and energy research. Today, as America’s largest science and energy laboratory, ORNL is a thriving multiprogram research campus with world-leading facilities and talented 5,800+ employees from over 60 countries who are innovators in their fields.

Our staff have innumerable opportunities to collaborate on cutting-edge scientific, operational, engineering, and support activities. In addition, ORNL offers professional development training at no cost to employees, supports numerous employee resource groups that promote diversity and inclusion efforts across the Laboratory, and provides networking opportunities.

Ideal Location

Located near the Great Smoky Mountains of Tennessee, ORNL’s campus is just 1 hour away from the nation’s most visited national park. Within a day’s drive of all major cities on the East Coast, ORNL provides the best of both worlds: proximity to the great outdoors and growing urban centers with diverse cultural attractions. The city of Oak Ridge has 150 miles of shoreline for water recreation, rowing, and boating, and nearby Knoxville is home to the thriving research campus of the University of Tennessee and a historic downtown known for its dining, theaters, shopping, and cultural and music festivals.

In addition, East Tennessee is affordable, with a cost of living 10% lower than the national average* and no state income tax. It is one of the safest areas in the United States and has excellent school systems, including the Oak Ridge School District, one of two districts in the world that are K–12 STEM certified.
